More about the School
The School, established by the Law Society of South Africa in 1990, provides a postgraduate, vocational course for law graduates.

In-depth vocational and practical training is offered at nine campuses. These are found in: Bloemfontein, Cape Town, Durban, East London, Johannesburg, Polokwane, Port Elizabeth, Potchefstroom and Pretoria.

A distance-learning school is offered jointly with the University of South Africa (UNISA). Should you not be accepted to the attendance school of your choice due to the course being oversubscribed, remember that you can apply to the UNISA School. The brochure is available on the LEAD website.

The course is presented in accordance with section 2 of the Attorneys Act 53 of 1979 as amended.

Law graduates who successfully complete the course qualify for one year’s credit for their articles as candidate attorneys. They can also sit for the Attorneys’ Admission Examination.

There are a limited number of places available at each campus and applicants go through a selection process before being accepted. Therefore, the form attached is only an application form and your acceptance is not guaranteed.

Objective of the course
To provide law graduates with the opportunity to acquire and develop practical legal skills to become effective practitioners.

The primary benefit of attending the course is that law graduates gain a full spectrum of skills and knowledge which they may not gain as candidate attorneys during their period of articles.

Attendance and after-hours course
Depending on the campus, the course is offered during the day (‘Day School’) and/or after-hours. The after-hours course is called the ‘Night School’ and it accommodates persons who are employed during the day.

Duration of the course
The full-time course (Day and Night School) takes approximately six months to complete. Depending on the campus, the course is offered once or twice a year.

The distance-learning course runs from January to December each year.

Nature of study
The course consists of four study modules. Training is practice-orientated to ensure that students will be able to perform most tasks with minimal supervision once they have completed the course.

Students are taught in a practical context in a simulated law firm environment with each student working for a ‘law firm’. Each firm is allocated an office and the students have access to computers and a law library.

Most courts and practical work form the foundation of the training activities. Students exchange pleadings and draft the necessary papers in action and application proceedings.

Instructors
The instructors are legal practitioners known for their experience and expertise. The medium of instruction is English.

Admission requirements and selection

1. An applicant must have completed a S.A. LLB degree or be due to be awarded the degree before the start of the course. Applicants with a BProc degree awarded not later than 31 December 2004 will also be considered.
2. A selection committee will consider the applications. The committee may require applicants to attend interviews.
3. The committee will give consideration to an applicant’s academic record.
4. Applicants interested in continuing to work in the attorneys’ profession will be considered favourably.
5. Due to the large number of applications preference will be given to applicants who reside within the School’s region.

Dates

The School’s Board of Control reserves the right to change dates and/or cancel any course if the number of applicants is not sufficient. Applicants will be given sufficient notice of cancellation.

Tuition fee

R 11 900 (VAT included).

1. If your application is successful, payment of the fee must be finalised before the course commences.
2. The fee includes study material.
3. Regarding accommodation and travelling, students are responsible for their own arrangements and expenses. Students may wish to defer making accommodation and travelling arrangements until it is confirmed that the course is not cancelled.

Financial assistance

Subject to availability of funds, the LSSA makes interest-free loans, for purpose of tuition fee only, available in deserving cases. These are considered on application. The application form may be obtained from the relevant School administrator.

Literacy and numeracy testing

All students will be subjected to literacy and numeracy testing as competency in these areas is essential in legal practice. In the event of unsatisfactory performance, further training at the School will be compulsory.

Legal Practice Act 28 of 2014

Transitional provisions in relation to qualifications:

(Extract from the Legal Practice Act 28 of 2014)

“112. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Act— (a) (i) the training course presented at a Practical Legal Training School of the Law Society of South Africa, for purposes of the Attorneys Act; or (ii) any other training course approved by any existing society or the General Council of the Bar, before the date referred to in section 120(4) for the purpose of training persons to qualify as legal practitioners, must be regarded as having been presented or approved pursuant to the regulations pertaining to practical vocational training in terms of this Act; and
(b) any period of practical vocational training undergone with an attorney or advocate before the date referred to in section 120(4) must be regarded as having been a period of practical vocational training under supervision of a legal practitioner.”

Student evaluation and certification

1. A student’s progress is monitored throughout the duration of the course.
2. Assessment is done at the end of each module and is followed by appropriate remedial action if necessary. The major part of the assessment is skills based.
3. Various awards are presented to students for exceptional performance during the course.
4. Students who complete the course to the satisfaction of the School Board receive attendance certificates.
5. The Law Society of South Africa awards special certificates to those students whose performance is regarded as outstanding.

Documents to be included

To be considered for the course, applicants must submit the following documents with their application forms:

1. A certified copy of the applicant’s identity document.
2. A complete academic record reflecting the applicant’s performance during final and pre-final years of LLB or BProc study.
3. A certified copy of the applicant’s degree or an original letter from the dean of the University concerned stating that the student has completed his/her degree in the current year, alternatively will have no more than two modules outstanding by the time the School commences.
4. A statement by the applicant setting out in less than 100 words on the subject “My perception of a competent attorney”.
