CONSUMER PROTECTION ACT: LATEST DEVELOPMENTS FOR 2018

Protect your firm and your clients – change consumers into allies

About this seminar

This year we are talking very practically about remedies for consumers and how to enforce them in court; about drafting contracts; and about using the media. We will also look at the Consumer Tribunal, the various ombudsmen and at the successes and challenges of the Consumer Protection Act (CPA). From a supplier's perspective, we will focus on the high risk areas and how your client (and your firm) can protect their interests, while changing their consumers into allies. The seminar will also cover plain language, the motor industry, defects in immovable property, timeshare, disclaimers, and much more.

Who should register?

Any attorney, advocate, legal advisor and candidate legal practitioner will benefit from this interactive seminar.

Seminar outline

The first half of the seminar will be in a traditional format. Participants will be invited to submit questions for the second half. Questions can be as detailed as you would like them to be and we will workshop those issues.

In between, we will deal with the latest case law and the rulings from the National Consumer Tribunal. All the basics of the CPA will be covered.

Presenter

TRUDIE BROEKMANN has been involved with the CPA since it was a Bill and she is highly fascinated by the impact it has on almost every area of law. She has her own firm in Cape Town, Trudie Broekmann Attorneys and previously worked at Broekmanns Attorneys, Mallinicks Inc, Webber Wentzel and Gunstons Attorneys, and as in-house counsel for Irvin & Johnson Ltd.

Ms Broekmann volunteers for a non-governmental organisation which uses the Constitution to advance justice for ordinary South Africans.
