Compulsory Practical Vocational Training

Introduction

Before admission as a legal practitioner an LLB graduate must serve as a candidate legal practitioner with a practising legal practitioner for 24 months and attend a short, structured course approved by the Legal Practice Council (LPC). The course is currently as per reg 6 in terms of s 109(1)(a) of the Legal Practice Act 28 of 2014 (LPA). This compulsory course for candidate legal practitioners has been approved to prepare candidates for the admission examinations. The course consists of two modules:

- Module I is designed to assist students to prepare for the first paper in the Admission Examination.
- Module II is designed to assist students prepare for the second, third and fourth papers in the Admission Examination.

The course is presented on a full-time; part-time; and evening basis.

The entire compulsory course for candidate legal practitioners has to be completed within 36 months of the registration of the practical vocational training (PVT) contract in terms of r 6(a)(ii) or the participant will be required to repeat the programme.

Who may attend?

Registered candidate legal practitioners, during their terms of service under their PVT contracts or after completion of their PVT contracts. Preference is given to candidate legal practitioners in their final year of their PVT contracts.

Competency-Based Admission Examinations which is in terms of r 21.11

Candidate legal practitioners may complete the four papers of the examination in any sequence. The LPC prescribes examination rules.

Examination dates

The dates are prescribed by the LPC and candidates must confirm the dates on the LPC website or with the regional LPC office. Presently the competency-based admission examinations are usually in March and August of a year.

First paper:

High Court procedure; magistrate's court procedure; personal injury claims and criminal court procedure.

Second paper:

Administration of deceased estates, drafting of wills, succession.

Third paper:

General practice, including duties, ethics and functions of a legal practitioner.

Fourth paper:

Attorneys bookkeeping.

Full time course

23 days split in two sessions over the year:

- Module I and Module II are combined as of 2022. There will be a break in between the two modules to assist candidate legal practitioners with their preparation for all four papers of the Admission Examination. The candidates are given enough time in between the two modules to complete the online assessments.

Part-time course (Modules I and II)

The part-time course will, as far as possible, be presented on one full day per week over a period of approximately five months. Attendance of the part-time course assists candidate legal practitioners to prepare for all the papers of the Admission Examination session held during the third quarter of 2024. (An exception is the Cape Town (II) (part-time), which prepares candidates for the first quarter 2025 session of the Admission Examination). The advantage of the part-time course is that candidate legal practitioners are not absent from the office for extended, continuous periods. They also have time between sessions to apply the skills they have learnt, as well as to prepare for the next session. Below are the days of the week that the part-time course is presented, unless otherwise arranged.

- Pretoria – University of South Africa: Wednesdays
- Durban – University of KwaZulu-Natal: Thursdays
- Cape Town (I) – (part-time): Fridays
- Cape Town (II) – (part-time): Fridays
- Walter Sisulu University (evening programme)

Evening course in Johannesburg, Walter Sisulu University and Potchefstroom

The course is presented on five evenings per week over a period of three months. All the evening programmes will be presented every evening from Monday to Friday. All evening programmes will assist candidate legal practitioners with their preparation for the entire Admission Examination.

Each group for evening programmes will accommodate 100 candidate legal practitioners at a time. When each group reaches the targeted number, candidates will automatically be registered for the next evening programme.

NB: EVEN IF THE CANDIDATE HAS REGISTERED BEFORE THE CLOSING DATE, REGISTRATION WILL BE CAPTURED FOR THE NEXT GROUP.

Code of conduct and satisfactory attendance

- 1 Candidate legal practitioners are expected to attend and participate actively in all training activities in a satisfactory manner. Mere physical presence does not constitute satisfactory attendance.
- 2 If a candidate legal practitioner is unable to attend a lecture for whatever reason, they will be marked as 'absent'. This includes sickness, family responsibility leave or duty at their firm. In exceptional cases, a 'catch-up' class can be arranged with the course coordinator at a fee.

Candidates should note the citation of Ex parte Postma 1999 (3) SA 762 (T) where Van Dijkhorst J commented on satisfactory attendance. 'The applicant was absent for four out of the 23 days of the course which was definitely not satisfactory attendance.'

- 3 LEAD suggests that candidate legal practitioners ensure that they have a 100% attendance in order to avoid complications with their application for admission as a legal practitioner.

- 4 Candidate legal practitioners should further note that late arrival and/or early departure is equal to non-attendance.
- 5 Candidate legal practitioners must –
  - prepare adequately for every training session;
  - conduct themselves in a courteous manner towards fellow attendees, instructors and course coordinators;
  - execute the prescribed evaluation procedure pertaining to the course; and
  - refrain from disrupting training activities in any way.
- 6 The LSSA regards any fraudulent actions regarding the attendance registers in a very serious light and severe action will be taken by the LSSA on proof of such misconduct by candidate legal practitioners. The LSSA reserves the right to terminate the attendance of an attendee who does not comply with the code of conduct. No attendance certificate will be issued under such circumstances.
- 7 Fraudulent entries in the attendance register is a serious breach of ethical conduct and will be reported to the LPC.
- 8 Attendance and preparation are key factors to successfully complete the programme.
- 9 Candidates are expected to be proficient in knowledge of the substantive law.
- 10 Due to severe time constraints, candidates are expected to do independent self-study prior to attending lectures.
- 11 Candidates must download the learner guide on e-Leader.

In terms of the LPC Rules, rights of appearance in Superior Courts by practitioners are subject to three years' post-admission, unless a trial advocacy certificate is obtained from a training provider accredited by the LPC.
